GERMAN STUDENTS GIVE BIBLE PLAY AT MUSIK VEREIN

Miss Hildegard Stauss Speaks; Audience Joins in Singing

150 PERSONS ATTEND

Approximately one hundred fifty people, including students and teachers of the university and representatives of the German societies of Omaha, attended the second annual Weihnachtsfeier, or Christmas party, sponsored by the German club at the Musik Verein on Thursday evening, December 5.

The main feature of the entertainment was Krippenspiel, a nativity play in German poetry based on the Bible. Martin Niemann read excerpts from the Bible in German between scenes. Donald Norquist took the role of the Angel Gabriel. Alister Finlayson and Marie Baroch had the parts of Joseph and Mary, respectively. William Osheroff played as the landlord with Alma Pedersen as his wife.

Three Wise Men.

The three wise men were Robert Dunlap, David Katske, and Gilbert Autry. Clarence Skayton, Richard Anderson and Louis Saylor acted the parts of the shepherds. A double quartet composed of Barbara Fair, Olive Musil, Ellouise Jetter, Eileen Leppart, Lumir Ptak, Howard Tipton, John Burke and Charles Horejs, sang German Christmas songs between scenes.

The program opened with a speech from Miss Hildegard Stauss, co-sponsor with Dr. V. R. West of the German club. Immediately the audience joined in the singing of "O Tannenbaum."

Osheroff Reads.

In the absence of Woodrow Schmela who was to have given a reading, William Osheroff read: "Der Christbaum ist der schönste Baum." A violin selection, "Ave Maria," by Schubert, played by Lumir Ptak followed. After the Krippenspiel, which was the next event, the audience again sang, this time "Stille Nacht, heilige Nacht."

When the program was completed, those attending played games under the supervision of Dr. West.

Refreshments were then served. A committee of girls of the club, headed by Mary Rigg, served coffee, German cookies, apples and chocolate Santa Clauses. The hall was decorated with holly wreaths and a Christmas tree.

Undeclared Cards Forced to Give Up Championship Hopes

December 10.—The annual N. I. A. A. coaches' conference, held today in Lincoln, awarded the state intercollegiate football championship to Peru Normal, waiving the rule that a team must play all conference members. Coach Hartman offered the only opposition to this move.

University of Omaha, undefeated in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Association circle, must relinquish its claim to the conference title to Chadron Teachers' college which lost two games. Peru, also undefeated, shared the loss of the title with Omaha because these two teams have not played each other. Peru refused to be included on the Omaha schedule.

These were developments in the N. I. A. A. championship controversy after petitions by students for a post-season game with Peru were turned down Tuesday, November 29, by the athletic committee of the university. The definite reason for refusing a playoff contest between the two unbeaten members of the conference was not announced.

Association Rules.

A rule of the N. I. A. A. eliminates from consideration for the championship any team which has not played every other team in the association. The Omaha-Peru encounter was the only one lacking to make the intercollegiate schedule complete.

Chadron lost to Peru, 19 to 0, and to Omaha, 7 to 6. They were victorious over the other two members of the quintet, Kearney and Wayne.

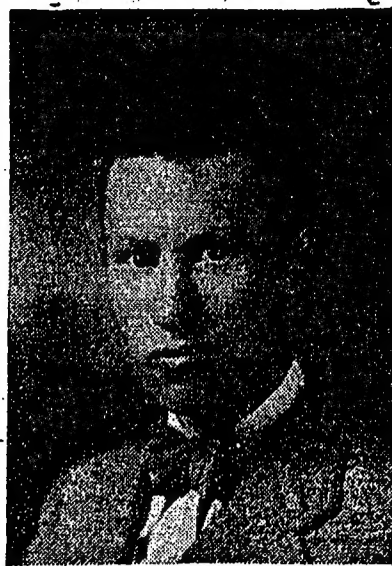

One The Game.

The Cardinals, while undefeated, carried their record with a tie game against Drake.

For being the only undefeated team except Drake college in Nebraska state college competition, Omaha graduates will be awarded gold football by the athletic committee.

Don White, '34, and Clinton Morris, '34, plan to spend two or three days in western Nebraska, snipe hunting.

In "Holly Grail"

Glen Cunningham

Glen Cunningham, '35, business manager of The Gateway, has been prominent in student affairs. He has gained considerable distinction on the stage, taking part in numerous dramatic productions. Since coming to the University he has taken part in "The Melting Pot," the all-college play of 1931, as well as numerous one-act plays, "Mansions," a one-act play in which he takes the lead, will be presented for the twenty-first time on Dec. 13. He is now working with "The Holy Grail" and "The Valiant," to be presented in the near future.

He was a member of the Glee club for three years, having been a member of the male quartet in his senior year. He took part in the operas, "Captain Crossbones" and "Pinafore."

Besides being business manager of The Gateway, Mr. Cunningham is vice president of the local Y. M. C. A. and secretary of Theta Phi Delta fraternity.

Dr. Payne Favors Student Lounge at Omaha University

Only Objection Is Finding the Means to Obtain Finances
For It.

"Who will pay for it?" asked Dr. W. Payne, associate professor of philosophy, when interviewed on the question of a lounge room to be added to the university. "It seems to me that everyone would favor just such a room, but there is a practical problem that we are faced with, that of paying for it."

"I can see two possible ways to finance this. The first possibility, the administration providing for a room. The chief objection is that of expense, and this is only natural in these times. The second possibility, the students raising money to be used for this lounge room. The chief objection here is that students would not want to invest their money in a room and then have the university move to another site."

Committee Chairman

Dr. Payne is the chairman of a committee that has been investigating this problem for more than a year. This question of having a room where students could spend their time between classes was brought up last year after several complaints against the noises in the hall had been expressed.

He explained that when he attended the University of Wisconsin the students contributed a certain sum of money to finance a similar building. Today this building is worth a million and a half.

Student Jurisdiction

"The lounge room," Dr. Payne continued, "should be under the jurisdiction and control of the students themselves. This room could be a rented room. Something like a room in the Joslyn Memorial, but of course this sort of room would be out of the question. There is no room like this around the present location of the university. The best possibility would be to have a barracks like the library in which to spend time between classes. An ideal spot for this is the space just north of the two library buildings. This would fit in with the other buildings located there and would not detract from the small campus that we are able to have now."

An inquiry made by the reporter of the cost to move such a building to the stipulated location revealed that it would cost $750, and, in short, "Who will pay for it?"

Professor E. J. Marwick will have today to spend Christmas with his mother.

Mrs. W. G. Giffney, librarian, leaves today for Philadelphia, Pa. Her husband will come down from New York to join her.

Dr. Stimson Writes For Law Review Tax

The California Law Review and the Tax magazine have accepted two articles written by Dr. C. W. Stimson, assistant professor of government and economics, concerning tax exemption in California and Illinois.

For two years Dr. Stimson has made an extensive study of tax exemption in both states, studying the early forms of tax exemption pertaining to percentage of property exempt in each state, to economic factors that brought this about, and to court decisions and interpretations concerning tax exemptions in each state, tracing through to the present time.

The article about California will appear in the March issue of the California Law Review, and that about Illinois will appear in the December and January issues of Tax.

Dr. Edward Steiner Addresses Students at Monday Assembly

Stresses Need for Co-operation Between Nations of the World

"Man thinks. That is the reason he has survived when other forms of life have perished," said Dr. Edward A. Steiner of the Sociology department of Grinnell college in a speech before Omaha university students at John Jacobs hall Dec. 12.

"If the human race ever perishes, it will be through man himself, not through any hostile forces. Humans do not think how they can preserve themselves, but how they can destroy each other," Dr. Steiner cited examples of huge bombs which have been invented, so large that a human being could not lift one of them, but so deadly that a single bomb would destroy half a city, if dropped from the talons of a giant bird.

"No clear thinking is possible," lamented the short Dr. Steiner. "The World War took its toll, leaving half-crazed men and a world in confusion."

"Life, to us, has been made up of a series of sensations. We must think in sequence rather than in terms of sensations."

"Humanity is too self-centered and life on that basis is not worth living. A poor man cannot get the same care from a physician as can a rich man. Physicians used to be ministers of health."

"How many realize that a poor man cannot get justice in the courts?" questioned Dr. Steiner. "Lawyers now learn to make the people think they are getting something for their money."

"Many teachers are sent from God," the doctor pondered, "but more are sent from the teachers' agency."

War Debt, Tariff Discussion Topics For History Club

The History Club discussed War Debts, Tariffs, and recent changes in the curriculum of several leading universities at the November 30 meeting at the home of George Thatcher, 1010 No. 50th Ave.

The next meeting, it was decided, will be held after the holidays at a place to be selected later. Sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Charles H. Thatcher.

The club is sponsored by Dr. Claude Stimson, assistant professor of economics; Dr. Edgar A. Holt, dean of faculty, and Mrs. Edgar Holt.

Those who attended: Margaret Glose, '34, DeLene Brownlee, '34, Lilyan Hill, '35, Edward Clark, '35, Edgar Randall, '35, Elizabeth Wendland, '34, Virginia Gray, '34, Bertram Christy, '34, Evelyn Kase, '35, Mary Alice Sniker, '35, George Thatcher, '34, Franklin Doty, '34, Franklin Buxton, '35, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Holt, and Dr. Claude Stimson.

Dr. Edgar A. Holt, dean of the university, will attend a meeting of historians at the University of Toronto, Toronto, Can., held Dec. 28 to 30.

Paul Spor, Prince of Pep, Plays for Pupils

Paul Spor and his Arabian Knights entertained the Municipal students at an assembly dance given Friday evening, November 2.

"This is only a sample of what you will hear at one of our dances," said Mr. Spor as he directed his orchestra.

Mildred Gibson, ex-'35, was featured and sang the choruses of several numbers. She also sang "I Love You Truly," the Pi Omega Pi song, and

CIVIC CLUBS URGE SOUTH OMAHA AS SITE FOR CAMPUS

Committee Presents a Petition to Board; 3,500
Signers

REPRESENT 17 GROUPS

A petition signed by 3,500 persons proposing a 120-acre site west of Riverside park as a site for Municipal university's new campus was presented to the Board of Regents by a committee representing 17 South Omaha civic organizations at the December 8 meeting.

The regents did not act on the proposal but promised to give it careful consideration.

Land Is Cheap.

The committee members said that as most of the land on the proposed site was in arrears in regard to taxation the city and county could foreclose, if the proper steps were taken, and the entire property could be purchased cheaply. The proposed site is on two street car lines and near a third they said.

From 25 to 30 per cent of the university's enrollment comes from the South side and an additional 16 per cent comes from outside the city the members said. They also pointed out that South High school was the only major educational institution in South Omaha.

Coach Sed Hartman Lines Up 7 Contests For 1933 Grid Team

Meet DePaul at Chicago in the Opening Game of Season

Seven games are already lined up for the 1933 Municipal university football team, Coach Sed Hartman announced at a meeting of conference coaches at Lincoln Dec. 10.

The Cardinals will open the season Sept. 29 at Chicago with the powerful DePaul university eleven of that city. Simpson college of Indianola, Iowa, will journey to Omaha for a contest Nov. 10. The only newcomer on the schedule is Nebraska Wesleyan, which comes to Omaha Oct. 27.

The Cardinals will meet all conference teams, Peru Normal reappearing on the schedule.

The schedule:

Sept. 29—Omaha at DePaul (Chicago, Ill.).
Oct. 6—Omaha at Kearney.
Oct. 20—Wayne at Omaha.
Oct. 27—Wesleyan at Omaha.
Nov. 3—Omaha at Peru.
Nov. 10—Simpson at Omaha.
Nov. 24—Chadron at Omaha.

Allows Classes to Use Text in Examination

An unusual type of examination was given by Mrs. Pearl Weber in the mid-term examination of her philosophy class. Students were allowed to bring with them any books or notes they wished to in order to answer the questions asked. The only limitation placed on the students was that they could not work together. This method is advocated by President Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Weber presented the examination in two halves. The first day there were several failures in the experiment due to the fact that some of the students helped one another. However, the results were much better on the second trial, which, according to Mrs. Weber, was very successful.

CALENDAR
Dec. 16—Gamma Sigma Omicron dance at the Paxton.
Dec. 21—Basketball, Omaha vs. Wyoming, Benson High, 8 p. m.
Dec. 23—Phi Delta Psi dance at the Fontenelle.
Dec. 25—Sigma Chi dance at the Fontenelle.

Students Are Frank, Mrs. Weber Declares

"Students study about as much today as they ever did," says Mrs. Pearl L. Weber, professor of philosophy and psychology. In fact she finds that students haven't changed very much in any way during the 19 years she has been teaching.

"They are about as interested in their subjects, too," she added. Outside the classroom young people of today are better than they used to be, Mrs. Weber thinks. They are more frank and spontaneous, she finds. They want more freedom, and they have it. Their interests are more practical and less bookish.

Changes in Schools.

"The students are responsible for the radical changes that have been made in our schools in the last few years," Mrs. Weber observed. "They have compelled the educators to make the changes."

Contrary to popular belief, Mrs. Weber thinks teaching is more personal today than it has ever been.

"It used to be the teacher and his 'favorite pupil' now the teachers are interested in all their students. There is recognition, too, on the part of both teachers and students, that they are all human beings," Mrs. Weber affirmed.

30 Women Attend First Annual "Y. W." Party at Omaha U.

Sing Christmas Carols, Play
Games and Serve Refreshments

Thirty Omaha U. women attended the first Y. W. C. A. party held last Wednesday afternoon at 8 o'clock in room 6.

The singing of Christmas and Y. W. C. A. songs opened the program. Eleanor Larsen, '35, lead them. Doris Allen, former O. U. student, gave two readings, which were "Mrs. Cohen at the Beach" and an original selection in dialogue. Next, the girls played five or six games so that everyone could become acquainted with the people whom they did not know. Refreshments were served afterwards.

Charge of Party.

Jessie Bliss, social chairman, and Elizabeth Shaw, program chairman, had charge of the party and refreshments. Ruth Wallace, president, held a short meeting at the beginning to discuss the possibility of the girls caroling at Christmas time at the different charitable organizations.

At a previous meeting the committee heads were selected for the coming year. They are as follows: Program, Elizabeth Shaw, '35; social, Jessie Bliss; finance, Betty Kavan, '35; publicity, Mary Frances Hughes, '35; and membership, Mary Agnes Gwynn-Vaughn, '35.

"I feel that the Y. W. C. A. is going to be very successful this year. Much interest has been shown and there is a great deal of enthusiasm about the organization," states Ruth Wallace, president.

The next meeting of the group will be Wednesday morning, Dec. 14, at 10. All girls are invited to attend.

Commercial Teachers Elect Helmstadter

Commercial teachers of Omaha and Council Bluffs elected Mr. C. W. Helmstadter, assistant professor of business administration, as their president for the coming year, Friday, December 3, at Central High school. After dinner following the meeting, V. Royce West, assistant professor of English and German, spoke on "Present Business Conditions in Germany."

Those present from Omaha university included: Dr. J. H. Rhoads, Mr. I. A. Hammer, Mr. Helmstadter and Miss Gloria Kurts.

Ping Pong Revived

Ping pong has been revived! And it's all the rage now. The trouble is so many fellows are going in for it. The W. A. A. members are forced to keep just one day a week for themselves, and the rest of the time they make money while the boys play. It is a business.

Dr. N. N. Garlough, head of the science department, was toastmaster. He was also chairman of the arrangement committee, which includes Mrs. Leslie Johnson, instructor in English, and Mrs. Gaffney, librarian.

The chairman of the section on Deontology and Cymology of the American Sociology Society, meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 28, 1932, has also requested that he give a paper on "Problems of Deontology."

Rhoads Speaker at Third Annual Faculty Banquet

Discusses Profession Problems
of Teachers' Today;
60 Attend

Sixty persons, including four regents, thirty professors and twenty-six wives or husbands of faculty members, attended the third annual formal Christmas season banquet Dec. 7 at the Medical Arts tea room. The regents present were: Alvin E. Johnson, Frank Graham, Frank Martin and Dr. W. L. Shearer.

The banquet, supposedly a formal affair, was formal only in dress, for an informal get-together was held before and after the dinner. New faculty members were given a chance to become acquainted with each other and with the old members.

Education Changes

Dr. J. H. Rhoads, head of the business administration department and formerly of Oklahoma university, spoke on "Business Problems of Today's Teachers." He discussed the general and professional problems of teachers over the country and at Omaha university. He cited the changes that are taking place in the educational system. His wit won many laughs and smiles from the diners.

"Institutions have been criticized for preparing students for examinations, instead of preparing them for living and enabling the students to adjust themselves to their environment and to solve problems," Dr. Rhoads told the group.

"Teachers are aware that the new difficulties of today call for new methods. Because of this teachers are expected to make contacts in community and help in the social problems," Rhoads continued.

Students Face Competition

"Students don't want just to get by any more," said Dr. Rhoads. "Hard times have quickened their thought. They see that they will have to face keener competition than they used to have."

Rhoads explained that men very often don't necessarily have to leave school, but do so because they are anxious to earn money. He said that teachers may use salesmanship, for they may point out the growing intensity of the business world.

Dr. L. N. Garlough, head of the science department, was toastmaster. He was also chairman of the arrangement committee, which includes Mrs. Leslie Johnson, instructor in English, and Mrs. Gaffney, librarian.

Sociology Sections Hear Dr. Sullenger

Dr. Sullenger has been asked to give one of his papers on his researches in Omaha before the section on Community Service.

The chairman of the section on Deontology and Cymology of the American Sociology Society, meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio, December 28, 1932, has also requested that he give a paper on "Problems of Deontology."

OMAHA UNIVERSITY PLAYERS GIVE "HOT COPY" AT MILITARY

Will Be Presented on Friday and Saturday, December 16
and 17

FOUR LEAD ROLES

The Omaha University Players will present "Hot Copy," a three-act comedy, directed by Eileen Christensen, '35, and Don Peterson, '34, December 16 and 17 at the Military theater.

"Hot Copy" is a newspaper sketch portraying a battle between an editor, who is trying to wipe out corruption in local politics, and a political "Boss" of a powerful machine.

Corrupt Political Boss.

Bill takes the part of the fighting editor and Spar is the corrupt political boss. John Kozak will handle the sarcastic reporter bit, a part that has proven the life of nearly all the past newspaper stories, according to Miss Christensen.

Woody Tietz, star end on the Municipal university football team, will make his first appearance behind the footlights as Bud, a printer. He will provide the comedy. Jack Grupe will aid Tietz in making the audience laugh by acting the part of Randolph, a negro jack-of-all-trades. Josephine Moore, a printer working with Woody, will also vie for some laughs in a comic role.

Lynch Has Lead.

Verna Lynch is cast as the feminine juvenile lead and will do a Greta Garbo-John Gilbert act with Kozak, the reporter. Verna is a reporter in this production. Jane Brenner will give her impression of how a fifty year old woman would act if she were socially ambitious. According to Don Peterson, Jane handles this part like a veteran, and warns the students that she will cause them to go into hysterics.

Ross Opposite Metzger.

Jeanne Ross will play the part of the leading character actress, opposite Bill Metzger. She will portray an experienced newspaper woman who takes over the reins of the paper while the editor goes to Hollywood to sell his story to the movie interests. Eileen Leppart has been chosen to play the part of the town gossip. This bit also adds to the comedy.

The University Players have been rehearsing their parts for the past two months, and according to the directors, they have their parts down to perfection. The players are working on a percentage basis with the Military theater. Tickets for the play can be had from all members of the cast.

Milwaukee Railway Makes Special Rate For Holiday Season

Special round trip rates of about one cent a mile will be in effect over the Christmas and New Year holidays, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railway announced in an advertisement appearing in The Gateway today.

The tickets will be good in comfortable chair cars and coaches and will carry a return limit to reach the starting point not later than midnight, January 10.

In addition to the coach fares excursion tickets will also be on sale. These will be good for first class passage, that is, they will be honored in sleeping cars and parlor cars upon payment of usual rates for accommodations occupied.

Both the coach fares and excursion tickets are good for points with which the Milwaukee road makes connections.

Publications Board Proposal Ordered Revised by Council

V. Royce West's proposal for a Student Publication Board was tabled and a committee consisting of Herman Walker, '35, Russell Baker, '35, and Joel Thompson, '35, was ordered to review it, at the November 29 meeting of the Student Council in room 12.

The Council also sent a resolution to President W. E. Sankoff urging the adoption of two lounge rooms in which smoking would be allowed. Josephine Ritz, '35, was unanimously elected vice-president of the council.

Marie Hook Entertains

Miss Marie Hook will entertain Mrs. Herman Walker, Miss Helen Kahler and Mr. Fred Bonenrich Sunday evening at her home. The occasion for this event appears to be a mystery, but a good time is being anticipated.

New Year's Resolution

We are making out our New Year's resolutions early this year so we can start in breaking them right away. On second thought we'll break them right now and save the bother of writing them down.

There are, however, some few resolutions which, God and the President willing, we intend to keep.

Next time that teacher gets sassy we are going to smack her down.

Next time our girl friend goes to a dance with another fellow and he goes "blotto" we are going to let her worry about it.

Next time Don White asks us for a cigarette we're going to give him a stick of dynamite.

Next time we're asked to fill out a requisition we're going to apply some new words we just learned.

Next time Dr. Sullenger cuts class we're going to report him to the dean of men.

Next time the librarian tells us to be quiet—we're going to be quiet.

What Do You Think?

Do we need the organization and assembly periods at 10 o'clock Wednesdays and Fridays? The Gateway would like to know what you think. Are these periods desired or should they be discontinued. Time can be provided for assemblies when desired; organization meetings can be held at noon.

The main disadvantage put forth is the delay and confusion that is caused. Ending the morning periods promptly at noon each day would allow students to fill engagements elsewhere, or reach home quickly. Classes ending at 12:30 interfere with many noon hour schedules and meetings.

On the other hand, many students desire this period for study or relaxation, when there are no assemblies or meetings. Some would like to see it extended to Monday also. What do you think? Let the Gateway know.

We Do Not Believe

We do not believe—
That American youth is going to the dogs.
That love makes the world go round. (It would go round anyway, according to the explanation Dr. Earl gave us.)
That you can get away from the weather.
That a certain amount of indigestion can be avoided, spinach or no spinach.
That there is nothing certain except death and taxes. (What about dandelions and quarterly exams?)
That the colonists took the Revolution nearly as seriously as the historians do.
That DeLene Brownlee is really as busy as she says.
That Science Hall was built in 1887. (It must have been before that.)
That the freshmen are as dumb as they look.

Students!

The start of each year sees new plans and dreams for Omaha university. The end of each year sees many plans in effect, many dreams come true. In 1929 the state legislature made possible a municipal university. In 1930 Omaha voted to take over the school. In 1931 and 1932 rapid advancement was made in faculty, curriculum and enrollment.

1933 is nearly here. Already we have new dreams, new plans for the future. Many are beyond our control, but some depend on us for successful completion. One of these is the proposed Student Publications Board. Already in operation in many colleges and universities, this board reduces politics in publications to a minimum. For this reason certain organizations are fighting its adoption. Do you want a democratic newspaper, or one under organization control? If you want a paper that is your own, one that prints news truthfully and without political prejudice, then support the Student Publication Board movement.

Composed of three students, popularly elected, and two faculty members appointed by the president, this board would have complete authority over the Gateway and any other publications. Faculty representation will reduce danger of organization control and keep the publications as democratic as possible.

Santa Claus

Isn't it too bad we don't believe in Santa Claus any longer? When we were young and trusting we depended upon him for so many things. And strangely enough he seldom disappointed us. Whether we wished for a "choo choo" train, a mammy-doll, a teddy bear, or a trieycle, we could always be pretty certain finding it in our stocking or under the Christmas tree on December 25.

If we only still believed in good old Santa, just think of the things we would wish for Christmas! Cars! Clothes! Trips! And of course we wouldn't forget our school. We would wish for a huge campus, new buildings, up-to-date equipment, a large faculty, and finally, a wonderful new Gateway office.

Isn't it too bad we don't believe in Santa Claus?

His English teacher told him that his verse was useless, worthless, terrible, insipid, mawkish, sentimental, sickly sweet, sugary, inane, asinine, childish and foolish. So he wrote the lyrics for popular songs and became a millionaire.

The only way in which Germany could pay its stupendous debt, West declared, "is to produce foodstuffs and goods for export trade with practically no capital and to not pay any wages for the services incurred in their production."

Emphasizes Nationalism.
"Hitler's goal is to drive out everything not German," he stated. "He is placing a heavy emphasis upon Nationalism. His position, however, is fallacious as he has only been a German citizen for one year. Even the insignia which he and his followers wear upon their shirts may be found inscribed on tablets found in ancient diggings from Crete to Scandinavia."

West was introduced by Mr. I. A. Hammer, associate professor of education at Municipal university and a member of Miller Park Presbyterian church.

Plans for the Christmas dance were discussed in detail and all activities were invited to the alumni Christmas party to be given at the home of Mrs. Gladys Davis, December 18th.

Graduate Nurses in Diction Class

Because nurses are entering the ranks of welfare workers and need the command of good English and diction to aid them in preventing the idea of disease prevention rather than curing those diseased, five graduate nurses have enrolled in Mrs. Leslie Johnson's diction class, which meets Monday evenings.

Dr. West Speaks at Miller Park Church On "Germany Today"

"University Men Dominate and Lead the Government," Tells Hearers

University men lead and dominate the German government, V. Royce West, assistant professor of English and German at Municipal university, declared in an address Sunday evening, December 4, on "Present Conditions in Germany," before 100 persons at Miller Park Presbyterian Church. Dr. West recently returned from a two-year stay in Germany.

"Student enrollment at German universities has increased from 65,000 in 1918 to 113,000 today," West stated. "With this increase in enrollment the quality of the student body has decreased. German educators attribute this to the fact that the majority of students are only attending university because a degree will enable them to obtain work in less crowded fields."

No Central Heating Plant.
In comparing American and German schools West said that many German schools do not have central heating plants and none have drinking fountains.

"None of the students at Reidelberg and only one member of the faculty own automobiles," he stated. "Everyone has a bicycle and the streets are crowded with them."

West told of unemployment among graduates of German universities. He cited instances in which university graduates had been without work from two to eight years.

"The solution of America's ills may lie in a plan now in vogue in the Black Forest district of Germany," West said. "The farmer works the land in the summer and in the winter operates a small home industry, usually making toys."

"Because the United States has set up tariff barriers against German toys the American orders are meager this year and the people of the Black Forest will suffer."

Christmas Similar to Ours.
Christmas in Germany is similar to ours, West told hearers. The German people share gifts, sing the same songs we do, and have Christmas trees.

"German's industrial problems are similar to ours," he declared, "and our difficulties will not be solved until Germany finds a solution to hers. Her economic problem, like ours, largely depends upon the finding of a satisfactory solution to the political maze in which she now finds herself entangled."

West told how the German government attempted to alleviate unemployment and at the same time remedy the housing situation, which has become acute in recent years.

"The government owns forests and railroads," he stated. "Wood is transported free of charge to villages that donate small tracts of land on which a house may be built. People of the village donate their labor in the building of the house and no one knows who will occupy it until it is completed."

The students think a great deal of Mr. Payne, and will fight every effort to remove him. What this university really needs is more professors like Dr. Payne. Anyone that has ever come in contact with Dr. Payne will vouch that he is one of the most intelligent, brilliant and interesting educators in these parts.

Student Forum

Dear Editor:

I believe your new column will go a long way in helping the students of the university as well as the school itself in working together for a higher goal.

Much talk has been heard lately relevant to a Student's Publication Board. I understand that this proposal is now before the Student Council for consideration.

The said board is to have authority to appoint the editor of The Gateway as well as editor of the Directory and Annual. I believe this is a step forward because in this manner the above positions will not go to the incapable. Had this board been in effect last year, the school paper would not now be in a crippled condition.

Therefore, I hope that the student council will have the initiative to see this new hope and look favorably on the proposition.

Sincerely yours,
A STUDENT.

Dear Editor:

Last spring when we elected you to the editorship of The Gateway, we voiced our confidence in your ability to take over The Gateway and nourish it until it becomes a full-fledged college publication and not a half-caste high school paper.

A so-called incidental fee of $1.00 was charged each registered student. This fee included an amount that was to pay the student's share of expense for a weekly college paper.

Fourteen weeks of the semester are gone and The Gateway has appeared on the campus but six times. We, the students of the university, are to conclude, therefore, that the weekly Gateway is not quite a semi-monthly publication.

Signed,
LOWELL G. FOUTS, '34.

Editor's Note: The Gateway is largely dependent upon advertising for financial support this year. Unlike other university publications we are not permitted to carry national advertising. Thus the columns of The Gateway are only open to local advertisers. Only in cases where a university is located in large cities can advertisements from local business men suffice to finance a student paper on a weekly basis.

Mr. Fouts' statement that the student's incidental fee goes to support The Gateway is an error as only fifty cents of it is used for that purpose.

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter in defense of Dr. Wilford Payne, associate professor of philosophy. Many rumors have been circulated about the university that a certain professor is seeking to oust Dr. Payne because Dr. Payne supposedly said something in his class about something that this ousting professor didn't like.

The students think a great deal of Mr. Payne, and will fight every effort to remove him. What this university really needs is more professors like Dr. Payne. Anyone that has ever come in contact with Dr. Payne will vouch that he is one of the most intelligent, brilliant and interesting educators in these parts.

Gammas Issue 200 Dance Invitations

Gamma Sigma Omicron sorority will open the formal season with the first dance at the Paxton hotel on December 16, the last day of school. Catherine Pape is in charge of arrangements for the dance, for which Art Randall's Royal orchestra will play. About 200 invitations have been extended. Mrs. Rene E. H. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Vartanian, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie F. Johnson will chaperon. Mrs. Mildred Gearhart is sponsor of the sorority and Miss Frances Wood is honorary member.

The regular meeting was held at the home of Jean Andrews, November 28, when the pledges tried to run away from the actives, and attended a neighborhood theater, from which they were rudely dragged by two actives, Ailene McMahon and Claire Rhodes.

Christmas Formal Postponed by Pi O's

It was decided at the last regular meeting of the Pi Omega Pi sorority to postpone the formal dance until spring. Meeting was held at the home of Gretchen Schrieber, Monday, November 28.

By HOWARD WILCOX

It won't be long now before the boys who know will get together and pick All-East and All-West teams for a big sectional football game. Knowing nothing at all about anything, we got together with ourself and figured out a pair of teams for a big sectional scramble of our own.

Our idea is a grid tangle between two well-known Omaha districts, the north side and the south side. Athletic competition between these two sections is age-old. Commercial baseball leagues, high school football games, and gangster gun brawls renew this rivalry annually.

So why not let an All-South team scrap it out with an All-North team? It would not be in keeping with the spirit of this contest to have individuals represent the two sections. After all, mere personalities may change their location or their residence at will. With this change of address, a complete change of loyalty may come about. So then the only part of our great city which does not leave its particular district or change its sectional spirit is the street.

City Streets in Big Tangle

Necessarily, then, the south side streets are going to have to battle it out with the north side streets. We find the North decidedly at an advantage at the start, having a squad of 95 to that of 69 for the South. But when you read our All-North and All-South first eleven you'll see that it's an even break.

You will notice that on the North aggregation we chose for ends, Summit, St. and State St. We picked Summit because it is tall and rangy, and State because he covers more ground than any other man in either lineup. Tackles are Fort and Page. Fort has proved himself to be a man who can stand up under fire, while Page has a clean record.

In the guard positions we find Stone and Taylor. Stone, because he is a hard man to run up against; Taylor, because he has proved himself capable under pressing conditions. Our center is Chicago, a railroad center with a reputation for being hard-boiled.

Nicholas Back in Every Battle

In the quarterback position we have placed Nicholas. Here we have a bit of deception on our part. The south side boys (with apologies to Jack Benny), will expect to find a quarterback in every battle, and instead there will be a nickel-less, Nicholas was entered in place of Dav-nort, whom we considered but re-

Pay As You Play, Ping Pong Players

Ping pong, once the popular winter sport of Omaha U., may lose its former prominent place in the college curriculum. A charge of five cents per half hour is being made for use of the ping pong tables in the gymnasium.

Last winter the old Chinese pastime took the university by storm. Students stood in line to get a chance to play. Tournaments were run off; a girls' tournament, a boys' tournament, a mixed doubles tournament, and a boys' doubles tournament. Champions were crowned, classes were cut and a good time was had by all.

Margaret Glee and James McCreary were the individual champions. Marlin Wilkinson and Dorothy Helen Thompson captured the mixed doubles crown and Wayne Edgar and Howard Wilcox the boys' doubles title.

Despite the nickel down payment, some of the old standbys who, when served their final exams last year, hit net balls as a result of a semester of ping pong, have been on hand the last few weeks to start the season.

jected because we feel he is a lounge lizard.

At halves are Ames and Cuming. Ames is a first rate half when it comes to passing the oval. He usually throws his passes where he Ames them, while Redman, another candidate, is too wild. Cuming was picked from the numerous backfield squadmen in place of Spruce, whom we thought too green. No matter how hard they hit Cuming when he is Cuming down the field, he will always be Cuming.

Captain and fullback is Grant, a well-known field general. We ruled out Plant because in exciting moments he becomes rooted to the spot.

To coach the collection of gridsters, who better than Howell? He can be counted upon whenever there is any Howelling to be done. For water boy we suggest Lake. The North boys will work O. K. if they don't see some Blondo in the stands.

Let's Hope It's a Dewy Day

And now, Marcy, we must select that south side outfit. Our right end, you will observe, is Pine. Pine, we believe, is a youngster who, although he is rather green, is tall enough to check Summit, the opposing wingman. For left end, why not Dewey, that prominent member of the Avenue family, who will cover the field if it happens to be his day.

Atlas and Mason fill the tackle positions for the South. Atlas can hold anything after holding the world all this time, while Mason lays them low. Jackson, our choice for left guard, is a stone wall; while Gold is a valuable man at the other guard post. And who better for center than Center himself?

We have picked Barker for the quarterback position on this gang, particularly because he is a good signal barker. As one halfback you will discover Garfield, an experienced runner who has run for president three times. Pierce, the other half, pierces the line like a veteran.

And last but not least we have Hillsdale, who certainly knows the ups and downs of the game, for full-back.

OMAHA RALLIES IN LAST QUARTER TO BEAT CHADRON, 7-6

Hoover Scores, Gordon Kicks, After Long Pass to Fischer

SEASON'S FINAL

Just before a man in white on the sidelines fired a gun that meant the end of the 1932 grid season, a University of Omaha eleven played one minute of frenzied football at Chadron, Thanksgiving Day, and gave that western city something to remember them by.

The score was 6 to 0 in favor of Chadron's teachers. The Cardinals had possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line. Hoover dropped back to pass. Fischer, playing tag with the safety man, wrapped himself around the oval far down the field. The safety man wrapped himself around Fischer, downing him on the 15-yard line. On the next play Hoover broke through to the one-yard line, crashing on over on the next play thereafter.

Bungie Gordon's placekick for the extra point bisected the crossbar.

Miss Dropkicks. In the nine minutes that followed that touchdown until the end of the game, Chadron made a pair of futile attempts to dropkick from the field, but had no scoring punch against a fighting eleven that had their hearts set on a victory.

Five minutes after the game started, the outstate outfit got possession of the ball on Omaha's 22-yard line when Hoover interfered with the receiver of a long pass. From that point halfback Christensen of the normal team passed to Stangle for a touchdown. The try for point was blocked.

The second quarter became a punting duel, neither team coming within scoring distance. The third quarter offered plenty of fireworks, the Cards nearly evening the count and Chadron attempting a field goal from the Omaha's six-yard line.

Omaha's chance to score came first. Burgess punted weakly, the Cardinals receiving on Chadron's 37-yard line. Larry Hall carried the ball to the 20-yard line on a succession of short gains. On the following play Gene Hoover passed into the end zone.

Figures Favor Cards. From their own 20-yard line, the Chadronites marched down the field to Omaha's six-yard line. The Cardinals held, and on the fourth down Burgess of Chadron tried a dropkick, but it was wide.

Statistics favored the Cards two to one, giving Omaha 16 first downs to seven for the Teachers, and 211 yards from scrimmage to 100. Net gains were 221 for Omaha and 180 for Chadron.

Spring Nominated for Water Boy

We spent little time in picking a coach, the outstanding candidate being Hickory, who will take any dumb players and make them smart. The water boy will be Spring. Homer, another south side boy, does not belong in football but merits mention for his popularity in baseball.

The South plans to use the River Drive as their main offensive play. The North also has success to this play, but will probably use the North Ridge Drive most of the time.

Our big worry now is to find a date when all the streets can get together. (Then won't there be hell Poppleton?) It'll be the battle of the century. Go to it, boys!

Home Games Have Larger Attendance, Make More Money

Attendance and gate receipts of University of Omaha's four home games exceeded that of last year's four home games, according to figures compiled by L. D. Crenshaw, burser.

Approximately 6,200 saw the Cardinals this year as compared to 4,400 in 1931. Gate receipts were three times as much this season.

The homecoming contest of the 1931 season received a greater attendance than that of the 1932 season, however. At the Wayne game last year, 2,500 attended; at the DePaul game this year, two thousand were estimated.

Financially the Kearney encounter was the greatest success of the season, the gate receipts exceeding those for the game against DePaul, although DePaul claimed an advantage of five hundred in attendance.

Football attendance for Omaha's 1932 home schedule is approximately as follows: Cedar, 1,300; Kearney, 1,500; DePaul, 2,000; St. Benedict's, 1,500.

Coach Has Plan

Red Hartman, Cardinal coach, has been ill of the flu during the past week. Basketball practice has continued under the supervision of Carroll Salca, captain.

Sign your name, clip the list, and put it in an envelope addressed to the sport editor.

Put in the Gateway box outside the Registrar's office.

Get it there before noon Friday, December 16.

Here are the prizes:

First: Two tickets to an Omaha basketball game.

Second: Two tickets to the Muse theater.

Third: Two tickets to the North Star theater.

That's the lineup for the first issue of our forecasting contest. One Omaha game, one Creighton game, one local high school game, five midwestern and two eastern contests.

We changed our mind about giving out Orpheum tickets. That well-known institution of diversion which so cheerfully handed out passes to us in the past has closed its doors.

So we went out after more prizes. We're sort of proud of that list, too. Our big hope now is that enough of you dopsters enter the contest so we don't have to use the tickets ourselves.

Some of those basketball battles hadn't ought to be hard to figure out. Omaha versus Wyoming, that is a setup. Incidentally, we think Kentucky will submerge Chicago, but don't let that bother you.

Nebraska's cagey will trek to Minnesota for their combat. Stanford plays three games, at Lawrence, but we will count only the first game in this contest. That game will be played December 30.

Carleton is well-known in the basketball world and should give Iowa a stiff battle. Creighton versus Wyoming—well, what do you think? We know less than you do about St. Benedict's and Baker U. They play Friday night.

The one high school fracas we have included finds Creighton Prep matched with North. You might get an idea from the Junior Jays' scrap with Benson tomorrow night.

Iowa State's game with Drake comes December 21, the same night as the Omaha-Wyoming contest. The one big time game back east matches two of the big three, Harvard and Princeton.

New Ten Second Rule Designed to Prevent Stalling

Stalling will be a tough proposition during the coming basketball season under the new 10-second rule, the most radical change in the hoop ritual enacted this year.

According to this rule, the ball must be advanced into the front half of the court by the offensive team within 10 seconds after gaining possession of the ball. Teams in the lead formerly tossed the ball back and forth between the guards on the offense, forcing the defense to break through into the back court. These tactics will be eliminated to a large degree.

Last year two Iowa schools demonstrated the possibilities under the old ruling. Clarinda stalling almost the entire game in a contest with Shenandoah.

The rule goes on to say that the offensive team may take the ball back into the other half after it has touched or been touched by a defensive player while out of control of the offense, after a ball jump, or after an out-of-bounds play.

Three Card Gridders on All-N. I. A. A. Team

Three University of Omaha football players made the all-conference eleven chosen by local newspapers. They were Carl Johnson, guard; Gene Hoover, halfback, and Clarence "Bungie" Gordon, fullback. Johnson and Hoover are veterans on the team. Gordon, a brother of Henry Gordon of Creighton, is in his first year on the Cardinal grid squad.

CARDS FINISH VICTORIOUS SEASON

Win Five Contests, Play One Scoreless Tie, Lose Two Encounters in Toughest Omaha Schedule.

"The greatest year yet for an Omaha University football team," is the opinion of Red Hartman. The Cardinals finished their season Thanksgiving Day with a record of five victories, one tie, and two defeats. The schedule included several teams which in previous years were considered beyond Omaha's class.

The Omahans scored 75 points in the course of the season, including twelve touchdowns and three extra points. There were 53 points scored against them, 34 of these representing the five touchdowns pushed over by the powerful DePaul eleven.

Here is a summary of the eight games of the season: OMAHA, 26; COTNER, 0. The Redbirds outplayed Cotner decisively in the first half, pushing over three touchdowns and kicking successfully twice to lead, 20 to 0. In the second division they experimented frequently and sometimes disastrously but managed another six points in the last quarter.

OMAHA, 12; KEARNEY, 0. Gene Hoover was the big gun against a scrappy teachers' outfit. He went over twice, once on an off-tackle sprint from the 31-yard line.

OMAHA, 0; WAYNE, 0. 'Nough said. The Cardinals could not get going and tied a contest they had been confident of winning.

OMAHA, 6; DEPAUL, 34. A Blue

Rundlett Is Star in Hartman Win

Jimmie Fischer's highly touted afternoon gym class five took an unexpected 18-to-12 trimming from George Hartman's morning class cagers at Jacob's Hall, December 2.

Lowell Rundlett, with six field goals and two free throws, led Hartman's five while Bob Barbee stood out for Fischer's cagers.

Basketball Sponsored by Women Athletes

Basketball is the latest sport to be sponsored by the Women's Athletic association, with Dorothy Wilcher in charge. Monday, December 4, practice officially started, and Thursday the first scrimmage was held, with veteran members holding the floor the first part of the practice, and the newcomers having their first try at scrimmage in the last half.

According to Miss Ruth Diamond, basketball is proving to be very popular with girls, and she is very pleased with the turnout so far. After Christmas vacation, she expects to have an intra-mural tournament, with sorority and a bar team competing.

CARDS SUBMERGE IOWA BASKETEERS IN SEASON'S FIRST

No Outstanding Player; Entire Team Displays Average Pre-Season Form

MANY SUBSTITUTIONS

Municipal university swamped Buena Vista under a flood of field goals, to cop a 40-to-24 victory over the Iowans on the Benson high court Dec. 10. The contest marked Omaha's twenty-first consecutive win and its first victory of the 1932-33 basketball season.

The usual early season faults were evident, the Cardinals exhibiting a ragged pass attack and missing numerous setups. The Iowans, with nearly a month of practice behind them, functioned more smoothly than did the Cardinals, but were unable to pierce the Omahans' defense.

Omaha Ahead at Half

Ability to convert free throws enabled the Storm Lake, Iowa, cagers to keep pace with the Cardinals in the first half, which ended with Omaha in the lead, 15-10. Curtis, Wilkinson and Byers bombarded the hoop from all angles during the second half and the Municipal university five drew away from the Iowans. During this brief period the Cards looked like the real thing, but they soon cooled off, and Coach Hartman substituted frequently during the remainder of the game.

The Cardinals were not at top strength, as Patterson was recuperating from an attack of the flu, Wilkinson had not recovered from a sprained ankle received earlier in the week, and Elmer Ossian could not play because of a lame shoulder.

Scores 17 Points

Salveson played best for Buena Vista, making three field goals and 11 free throws, while Reign Byers and Patterson set the pace for Omaha with three fielders and two gift tosses apiece.
